Qurban in Indonesia

Qurbān (Arabic: قربان) or udḥiyah (Arabic: أضحية, lit. 'sacrificial animal') as referred to in Islamic law, is a ritual animal sacrifice of a livestock animal during Eid al-Adha. The slaughter of sacrificial animals is dominated by cows and goats in Indonesia. The procedure for handling sacrificed animals has been regulated in Regulation of the Minister of Agriculture - Republic of Indonesia No. 114/Permentan/PD.410/9/2014.

However, most of the butcher is not required to wear gloves or masks. The gloves can be used to protect the meat against contamination.

Slaughterhouse Sanitation in Japan

To increase the level of food hygiene control, Indonesia can adopt Japan's slaughterhouse sanitation procedure such as maintaining the cleanliness of the facilities and ensuring the butchers are using gloves and mask during the slaughter.
