

From: Cureus info@cureus.com
Subject: Peer review by Reviewer Epsilon was completed and your article has satisfied our peer review requirements.
Date: 7 February 2026 at 21.17
To: erica@trisakti.ac.id

C

You may now revise your article.

Cureus
Part of SPRINGER NATURE

Medical publishing powered by community

Hi Dr. Kholinne,

We're happy to report that Reviewer Epsilon has completed peer review of your article, "The relationship between physical activity and sarcopenia in the elderly."

This article has now received the minimum required amount (2) of completed peer reviews. You may now move forward in the publishing process. You may also choose to wait for additional completed reviews.

Ready to move forward? Now that your article is unlocked for editing, you have two options:

1. Revise your article to address the reviewer comments, respond to each comment, and request (optional) re-review from your reviewers.
2. Revise your article to address the reviewer comments, respond to each comment, and request publication.

Click the View Comments button on your dashboard to view and respond to the review comments. (We recommend waiting to respond to each comment until you are done revising.)

We appreciate the efforts of our reviewers, and we hope you do too.
When requesting publication, you'll be asked to address the reviewer comments and share any other thoughts regarding your decision to move forward. These comments will be sent to the editor.

Thanks,
The Cureus Editorial Team

Go to My Dashboard

Cureus, Inc., 1227 14th Avenue, San Francisco, CA, 94122, USA

Unsubscribe

Manage Email Preferences

© 2025 All rights reserved.